Our friends will take particular notice that on Friday next, February 22, the anniversary of

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY,

Our stores will be closed. We have always been of the opinion that this day above all days of the year should be ceiebrated in a manner becoming American citizens. Hence will close our stores, for that day, so that people intending to make purchases the latter part of the week will either do so on Thursday or put the same off until Saturday.

OUR 20 PER CENT REDUCTION SALE Has had the good effect of placing some very valuable orders with us for future delivery. The goods of course are stored and held by us without extra cost.

OUR CARPET REMNANTS will be offered this week at prices that will be a regular picnic to buyers. We must have the room they occupy. So you can depend on it that no reasonable offer for the remnants will be refused. Remember when we make the assertion that we have the largest line of Bedroom Suits in the city we mean every word that we say, and can prove the same if you take the

OUR PARLOR SUITS are away above the average of goods generally shown in this city. They are our own make of goods and we are just proud enough of them to keep up the good credit they have established. Call and see our line of Parlor Suits if you contemplate buying. THE ALLEGED PARNELL LETTERS.

One Man Was Kept Eusy Discovering Them at So Much Per Day.

POOR MEMORY OF A TIMES WITNESS.

The Manager Himself is Sharply Rebuked by the Presiding Judge.

The hearing before the Parnell Commisgion was resumed yesterday. Two of the Times' witnesses were cross-examined by the attorneys of the Irish leader. Evasion was resorted to in order to avoid revealing important information. A statement of the money paid for the published letters was secured. Purnell was present.

LONDON, February 19.-It was a large and interested crowd which attended the hearing before the Parnell Commission today, for it was understood that Mr. Mac-Donald, the manager of the Times, would be cross-examined by the legal advisers of the Irish leader. The witness had a very poor memory concerning many pointed questions, and absolutely refused to answer others, for which he was severely rebuked by Presiding Justice Hannen.

McDonald testified that he paid Houston £550 for the Parneil letter of the 16th of June and for Egan's letter to Corey. The total payments made to Houston amounted to £2,530. He particularly avoided asking from what source the letters were obtained, because Houston said he was bound to secreey, which he asked the witness to respect. Mr. MacDonald said the Times' statement that knives and firearms were kept in the League office in London was based upon information supplied to the writer of the artiele in which the statement was made. He did not know directly who wrote the article, and he was not bound to tell if he did

Mr. Asquith-Will you find out? Presiding Justice Hannen-The witness says he cannot tell you. I do not know that he is bound to inquire.

CORNERING THE MANAGER. Mr. Asquith pressed the question. Sir Charles Russell submitted that the witness was bound to inquire, Attorney General Webster said that he could not accede to the witness going out of court to obtain information that was not within witness' own knowledge. Mr. Asquith again asked the witness to obtain the names of the writers of the articles in the Times. Presiding Justice Hannen ruled that counsel was not entitled to ask the witness to make inquiries, but might question him as to anything within his knowledge in connection with

Mr. MacDonald finally said that Mr. Flanagan wrote the articles that appeared on March 7 and March 10, 1887. He had forgotten who wrote the others. Mr. Parnell's alleged letter to Piggott was then produced. Presiding Justice Hannen asked whether it was admitted that the letter was genuine, and Sir Charles Russell replied "Oh, no."

Attorney General Webster then called Mr. Ingles, writing expert, to the stand, whereupon there was a sharp encounter, Sir Charles Russell contending that justice de-manded that the source of the letter should be revealed before he was called upon to cross-examine experts. A POINT FOR PARNELL.

Presiding Justice Hannen thought that inquiry should now be made as to the source of the letters. Mr. Houston. Secretary of the Loyal and Patriotic League, was then sworn. He testified that he first knew Piggott in the autumn of 1885, in equisequence of a communication from Piggott regarding John Devoy. Witness inquired as to the Irish American organizations, and instruct ed Piggott to try to substantiate his state-ments regarding Parnellites and crime. of the House to-night, was a perfect parody on legislation. It was called for the consid-

The pamphlet entitled "Parnellism un-masked" was based upon Piggott's informawas based upon Piggott's information regarding Devoy. In December, 1885, witness asked Piggott to supply further information for newspaper publication. He agreed to pay Piggott a guinea daily for hotel and traveling expenses. Later Piggott said it was useless to confine his attention to Dublin and asked that his expenses be paid to Paris. Piggott wrote to Eugene Davis, who, Piggott said, could assist in the Reference was made to a letter and witness instructed Piggott, if possible, to procure the letter. Piggott repeatedly went to Paris, and finalty told witness that none of the letters could be given up without the consent of a person in New York. Piggott supplied copies of five Parnell letters and six Egan letters.

BOODLE CALLED FOR.

Witness not having sufficient money to send Piggott to America, saw Mr. Buckle, editor of the Times, in 1886, but Buckle de-clined to take up the matter. Piggott returned from America with a scaled letter, which he said he obtained from Breslin, and which contained instructions to a person in Paris to give up the letters on certain con-Piggott went to Paris repeatedly before he obtained the letters. Witness asked MacDonald to test the genuineness of the letters, and said that if they were used he expected to be reimbursed for his expenditures. Up to the time of their publication he had not bargained for payment for the letters, but he made it a condition that the Times atone should be responsible for their publication. Witness had nothing to do with the testing of the signatures, and was completely ignorant of the process by which they were tested. Under cross-examination Houston said he did not know that Piggots was in pecuniary straits when he asked him to discover the documents. He told him that it the letters were forthcoming and were genuine they would be paid for. At this point the commission adjourned.

The only other officials voted for were Councilmen, school controllers and consta-bles, the majority of those elected being Rebles, the majority of those elected being Republicans.

UNIONTOWN.—Much scratching of tickets was done at the election, and over 900 votes polled, a larger yote than usual for spring elections being out. The Republicans elect Jesse Reed Burgess, Amos S, Bowlby, Tax Collector, and John R. Wilson, Justice of the Peace, and Councilmen in the First and Fourth wards. The Democrais elect a Councilman in the Third ward, while the vote in the Second ward, where an independent candidate was running, is close and in doubt.

GREENVILLE.—W. P. Leech was elected Burgess; Alexander Bright, Thomas Mould, Jr., Councilman, and D. C. Moyer, Constable. Republicans elected entire ticket.

GREENSBURG.—The - election passed off quietly here. The vote polled was small. The Democratic ticket is elected by majorities ranging from 75 to 175. A. M. Sloan is Burgess and F. Y. Clopper, Henry Coshey, Joseph Bowman and George Kline are elected Councilmen. J. J. Johnston and Alex Elcher are the school directors. Thomas Stimmel is Tax Collector and Thomas Washabaugh Constable. J. J. Johnston had the highest vote.

SHARON.—Local election resulted in election of William Wallis as Burgess. Both School Board and Council are Republican. Vote was the lighest in years, as the thermometer was near zero all day.

Corry.—At the municipal election the Democrats elected their candidate for Mayor, Attorney A. F. Bole, by a majority of 2%, and sout of the 14 Councilmen.

Titusvilla.—The municipal election took a peculiar aspect. To meet the exigency caused by the failure of the Supreme Court to declare the Wallace act constitutional, the Republicans decided to elect officers under the act of 1866, providing for but one branch of Councils, and also to indorse and vote for present city officials, Democrats. They have one more year to serve of their original terms. As the act of 1865 provides for but one year's term, they will hold office legally whether the Wallace act is constitutional or not. The Democrats made nominations under the provisions of the latter act, and therefore only voted for officers whose terms expired, which were common councilmen. Of these the Republicans loss two. for the erection of a monument at Ft. Greene, Brooklyn, to the memory of the victims of the prison ships. Mr. Kilgore, of Texas, raised the point of no quorum against the measure, and it was withdrawn. But although the bone of contention was thus removed, the contention still remained, and Mr. Felix Campbell, of New York, irritated at the defeat by one man of a measure in which he was specially interested.
